According to FM Approval sources in China, Nanjing Fire Protection Tech Ltd. (no known web address) has been circulating false certificates to buyers in the Middle East and South America. The falsified certificates contain the business address of a legitimate company doing business in China as Nanjing Fire Protection Technology Co., Ltd. (www.tuna.com.cn).

Description: The falsified certificate identifies several models of fire sprinklers for Nanjing Fire Protection Tech Ltd. The certificate illustrated below is a falsification of an FM Approvals certificate. FM Approvals has no relationship with the identified company.

Geographic Area: China, Middle East, South America

FM Approval status: The identified products are not FM Approved.

Hazard involved: Any company falsely claiming FM Approval of any products will cause confusion in the marketplace and can mislead users into a false sense of a relationship between FM Approvals and the manufacturer. These products have never been tested and certified by FM Approvals. Only products listed in the FM Approval Guide www.approvalguide.com can be considered authentic FM Approved products

If you suspect you are in possession of a counterfeit CoC issued by FM Approvals or the products identified below, please bring that to the attention of:
